RULES FOR STUDENT JUDGING AT OGDEN STOCK SHOW GIVEN OUT BY SUPERVISOR OF LOCAL CONTEST

The high school students' judging contest to be held as an important part of the big First Annual Ogden Livestock Show is attracting widespread interest, according to Henry Oberhansley, of the extension division of the Utah Agricultural college. Mr. Oberhansley is supervisor of the contest.

According to information given out by Mr. Oberhansley, three prizes of $25, $15 and $10 each will be given to the three best high school teams. In addition, the individual scoring highest in each class will be awarded a prize of $5 and the second highest will receive $2. To the individual making the highest score in the judging of all classes, a prize of $25 will be given. Second, third, fourth and fifth places will receive $15, $10, $5 and $3 respectively.

Members of recognized boys' or girls' clubs may exhibit animals for prizes and ribbons, according to Mr. Oberhansley. Six classes will be exhibited including lambs, sows and hogs, young hogs, dairy calves, and dairy heifers. Prizes up to $10 will be given for the best exhibits.

Rules for Contest.
The rules governing the judging contest have been formulated as follows:

1. Any high school student under 18 years of age who has never taken part in any beef stock, dairy cattle or horse judging contest of interstate or international character, previous to the year in which the contest is held, may enter, providing he is in attendance at a regular enrolled student in the institution he represents.

2. Each school or boys' club will be restricted to entering three men, which number shall constitute a team.

3. No contestant shall be permitted to inspect the livestock at the Ogden Livestock Show prior to the contest, and any transgression of this rule will be sufficient to bar such student from the contest.

4. All prospective teams shall send in their entries to the secretary, Ogden Livestock Show, as soon as possible.

5. Each contestant shall report to the superintendent at the stockyards at 1 p. m. Friday, January 9, 1920, when they will be assigned a number and given such instructions as the superintendent may deem necessary.

6. While the contest is in progress there shall be no conferring between students or between contestants and any one else, excepting as directed by the superintendent or his representative.

Cards to Be Presented.

7. When the contestants appear before the judges, the clerk shall present the contestant's card, bearing his rating of the animals to the judge, and the judge shall make a note of the same and grade it as his judgment indicates, and record his grade for placing on a card bearing the contestant's number. Fifty points shall constitute a perfect mark for placing. It shall also be the duty of the judge to hear the reasons for placing, and so independently grade the same for reasons on the card mentioned above. Fifty points shall constitute a perfect mark for reasons.

8. The contestant shall hand in his card bearing his number, the descriptive name of the class of animals, and his placing, to the supervising clerk immediately after he finishes with each class.

9. In each of the classes, fifteen minutes will be allowed the contestant to make his observation, record his placing, and write such memoranda as he may desire. The contestant shall be notified three minutes before time is up, and when time is called cards must be handed in promptly.

10. Each contestant shall appear singly before the judge and shall have two minutes in which to give his reasons for placing each class of livestock. No contestant shall hold any paper, card or device that will assist him while he is giving his reasons before the judges, except that he will be handed the card he handed in which he will be allowed to retain while giving his reasons.

Will Name Committee.

11. The superintendent will, immediately upon the opening of the contest on Friday afternoon appoint a committee to select and get out the rings of stock to be used in the contest.

12. Four animals shall constitute a class.

13. The classes of stock to be judged will be made up of fat beef cattle, fat hogs, and fat sheep.

14. No contestant shall wear any uniform, college colors, college hat, nor shall he in any way signify to the judges his identity or the identity of the college he represents.

15. Each institution shall file with the superintendent of the students' judging contest at the time its students are entered an authoritative statement covering the eligibility of each of its representatives.

Full information concerning the judging contests and the exhibits can be secured from Mr. Oberhansley at the Utah Agricultural college, Logan, Utah, or from Secretary R. C. Evans, of the Weber club, Ogden, Utah.

STEPHENS BROTHERS PAY FINES TO COURT

Three Men Pay $50 Each on Battery Charge and Abandon Taking Appeal

William J. Stephens, Jr., George Stephens and F. E. Stephens, brothers, who were convicted in the city court last week on the charge of battery upon William P. Lethbridge, paid the fine of $50 each to the sheriff this morning. The three brothers were convicted with their father, William J. Stephens, Sr., who was fined $10.

At the time of the sentencing of the defendants, the father paid his fine, but the sons gave notice of taking an appeal to the district court, but this morning the brothers appeared at the sheriff's office and paid the fine.

The case was the outgrowth of a charge of alleged profiteering made against the Stephens by Lethbridge, who was a tenant in the Argyle apartments, owned by the Stephens.

Selling Sugar With Other Goods Unfair

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The federal trade commission today held that the selling of sugar in combination with other goods to force purchasers to buy other goods is an unfair method of competition, and ordered the company of Chicago to cease the practice. The Chicago case was one of many similar complaints which had been lodged with the commission, it was stated.

GREAT THROG WILL ASSESSORS ASSIGNED WELCOME GENERAL PERSHING HERE READY FOR WORK IN COUNTY

General John J. Pershing, who will arrive in Ogden, January 16, for a short visit will be the guest of the American Legion, Weber club, Rotary club, Ogden city and other orders during his stay here, according to President Warren L. Wattis of the Weber club. President Wattis is conferring with Colonel Marshall, aid to General Pershing, on the stop of General Pershing here.

Captain J. Ray Ward stated this morning in behalf of the American Legion, that the men in the organization would turn out for the general upon arrival here. Every member of the American Legion, former service men of all branches of service, citizens and all will be invited to greet the hero.

While General Pershing's stop here calls for but 35 minutes, it is highly probable that arrangements will be made whereby the leader will be the guest of Ogden for more than an hour. Plans for the reception of the general are being started. They will be completed when the detailed information is received from Colonel Marshall.

WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS PROMISED BY THE NEW MAYOR

Vigorous war on bootleggers was promised today by Mayor Frank Francis.

"When I went before the citizens of Ogden at the November election, I set forth my platform in plain terms. At this time I want to say that I find no reason for amending my platform in the slightest way."

"I am going to add to that program, however. The bootlegging business must be brought to a complete halt. I propose to fight this traffic to the limit."

In selecting men for department of officers, the new mayor said:

"I am not trying to build up a political machine. You owe me nothing but you owe the city everything."

In outlining his general plan of procedure, Mr. Francis said that to serve the people well he considered to be the highest type of politics and that it was his intention to win the confidence of the great mass of the citizens of Ogden, especially the home owners.

FEEDING IMPORTANT IN PIG RAISING.

Expert Gives Feeding Instructions That Will Increase Your Profits.

Prof. J. C. Hogenson,
Utah Agricultural College.

Correct feeding is a big factor in the economic production of pork. This feeding should begin with the mother for the best results, according to Professor J. C. Hogenson, of the Utah Agricultural college. "Before the young pigs are born the sow should be given a heavy, nutritious ration, in order that the young pigs will get a good start in life," says Professor Hogenson. Continuing, he says: "A ration for the sow in this condition should consist of a slop made up of a grain mixture of one part corn, and one part shorts and one part bran and milk, using one pound of the bran mixture to every three or four pounds of milk. After the sow has farrowed she should be fed about the same ration in order that her milk supply will be kept up and the young pigs will be well fed. For the first two or three weeks the young pigs are fed entirely through their mother, but at the end of this time they show a desire to eat from trough. A trough now be built and placed inside of an enclosure which is so constructed as to keep the old sow out, but allow the little ones to go in and out. Care at this time should be exercised in order that the young pigs may get started right on their new feed and gradually weaned away from their mother. Many young pigs are stopped in their growth at weaning time, this causing quite a loss.

"The secret of successful feeding is to obtain the most growth in the shortest time. It seems that the pig starts out with a certain impetus, use food economically in large quantities for growth and every check we put to that impetus reduces the economy of feeding. By keeping conditions at their best and thus removing any friction, the force to grow, behind the pig is very much greater than under any other condition.

"The first food given young pigs should be a slop made up of one pound of first class shorts and five to six pounds of skim milk. If this is given to the young in such quantities as they will clean up well when they are about two or three weeks of age, at weaning time, which is at the age of from six weeks to ten weeks, the pigs will be accustomed to eating and will get enough food from the trough to keep them growing at about the same rate as before weaning.

"Care should be taken to give the little pigs plenty of exercise, or under the forced system of feeding many pigs will get the thumps, and die. In case this disease appears, shut off the feed for about twelve hours and exercise the pigs.

"The slop of shorts and skim milk should be continued until the pigs are about three months old when the proportions of shorts to milk should be to four pounds of milk. It is at this time that other grains, such as corn, barley, etc., can be introduced.

"Experiments show that skim milk is one of the greatest factors that we have in the rapid growth of pigs. If skim milk is not available for any except the pigs that are being weaned, then good alfalfa pasture should be available, in case the pasture is not available, then a big armful of green alfalfa should be thrown into the pen for each pig to work over, or the pigs should be given some sugar beets to eat.

"The grain mixture to feed the pigs from three months of age and on depends very much upon the price of the different grains. Crushed wheat, corn and barley chop are about equal in feeding value. Pigs like everything else, like a variety in their food, make a grain mixture of about five parts corn or barley and two parts of either shorts or wheat.

"Feed each pig all that it will eat of either of the above grain mixtures made up in a slop of one pound grain mixture to three or four pounds of milk or, if milk is not available, to water.

"Under this treatment, if a good individual treatment is had to start with, at the end of six months the pig ought to weigh from 200 to 250 pounds, or even better.

Auto Bandit Killed; Officers Wounded

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 5.—Adrian Thompson, alleged to have been the partner of James R. Green, alleged automobile bandit, arrested last night, was killed. Patrolman James Bogle was probably fatally wounded, and Sergeant J. Barry and Detective George Schneider were wounded today in a battle between the police and Thompson, whom officers were trying to arrest.

Thompson was 25 years old. An automobile load of officers had gone to Thompson's home at 1830 West Forty-sixth street, shortly before noon to arrest him. Although his mother said Thompson was not there, officers searching the house found him hiding behind a door. The fight followed.

"Look here, sir," exclaimed the maiden lady. "I want you to take back that pork you sold me. I find that it sweats badly."

"Well, ma'am," replied the dealer, "it's a very young bird; it'll learn to sweat more perfectly when it's a bit older."

One would never guess how few married men have wives.
